

ALLIANCE TALK.

AMONG THE FARMERS AT VALDOSTA
THE OTHER DAY.

The Presence of Colonel Livingston and Colonel Northern Suggests Politics, but They Both Deny That Intention.

VALDOSTA, Ga., January 15.—[Special Correspondence.]—There was a good deal of political talk here today among prominent allies, who were here in attendance upon the barbecue. The fact that both Colonel W. J. Northern, of Hancock, and Colonel L. F. Livingston, of Newton, were on hand and made speeches, brought this about, as both of them are understood to be in the race for the governorship and in to stay. Judge John T. Henderson, commissioner of agriculture, was also here, and while he did not address the multitude, circulated pretty freely among the brethren and managed to shake hands with a majority of them. There seemed to be quite a diversity of opinion among the allies, as to which was the strongest candidate for governor. Both of them had strong and earnest friends, and the average voter got rather mixed up when the claims of both of these gentlemen were fairly presented to him. Some of the allies were of the opinion that it was rather early to put out a candidate, and were more disposed to giving their time to enjoyment than to the discussion of politics, thinking that there was plenty of time later on to discuss such matters. Judge Henderson was the only candidate on hand for the office of commissioner of agriculture, and while his candidacy did not enter into the political discussion of the day, many words of cheer and confidence were whispered in his ears. "You are all right, Jack, and can take things easy," were the cheering words that met his ears as he grasped hands with his friends.

POLITICAL THOUGHTS REBUDED.

All of these gentlemen repudiated the suggestion that they were here on political business, and one of them went so far as to say that he would not have come to the barbecue had he not received as many as three urgent invitations to be present. All of them, in referring to their presence here, stated that they were on hand by invitation, and not because of any personal desire to push themselves upon the assembled multitude. However this may be, the average voter looked upon these distinguished Georgians as candidates, out on an expedition, hunting for supporters, and could not be convinced that their presence was attributable to other causes.

Colonel Northern left tonight for Macon, while Colonel Livingston, Judge Henderson and Colonel J. W. Beck, state lecturer for the alliance, left on their way to McRae, in Telfair county, where Colonel Livingston has an engagement to address the Farmers' alliance of that county tomorrow.

THEY ARE FOR THE SALE.

There is a strong and continually growing sentiment in this section, in favor of the sale of the Okefenokee swamp, to any company that will drain it, and make the lands that are supposed to be under the swamp available for planting purposes. There are to a number of people here, and I find that the sentiment of this portion of the state is practically unanimous in favor of the bill. It is argued that if this swamp is drained and made available for cultivation, that the state will get from these lands a large revenue in the way of taxes, and that, in addition, the value of the lands skirting the swamp will greatly enhance its value. It is claimed that these, now useless, lands will bring to the state treasury a greater revenue per acre than is now paid for taxes on the lands lying for forty miles in every direction around the swamp. Senator Folks, who introduced the bill in the legislature to sell Okefenokee swamp, is here today, and says that the representatives of the committee commanding the swamp, without exception, favor the sale, particularly as the bill provides that the purchaser or purchasers shall drain the lands and make them available for cultivation. Charley Pendleton, of the Valdosta Times, who once directed an exposing article against the Okefenokee, is strongly advocating the sale; and says that if the land is reclaimed, Georgia will have within her borders a large area of most valuable land for conversion into sugar plantations.

PLANTING MELONS.

Editor Pendleton says that more watermelons will be raised this year than ever. He states that the planters of this section will, without exception, increase their acreage, and that the opening of the Georgia Southern and Florida will be a big advantage to the melon growers of south Georgia. The line runs from northeast to southwest through Lumpkin, Forsyth, and the like, thirty miles of farming land well adapted to the cultivation of melons, and that the people living along the road will take advantage of the increased railroad facilities furnished them, and plant more largely than ever in crops of this character. "We have," said he, "the finest watermelons in the world, and will make of every advantage given us by our soil, climate and railroad facilities."

A NEW RAILROAD.

"By the way," said Editor Pendleton, "Valdosta will, at an early day, have another trunk line. It will be called the Florida Midland and Gulf, and will run from Valdosta to Destin, Fla., and all the railroads south of us on the gulf. There will be other line within sixty miles of it, and it will have a clear field through some of the finest timber lands of south Georgia and Florida. This road will cross the Florida Railway and Navigation company's line at Madison. This new road was under contemplation about six years ago by a man named Pendleton, of the same name, of pool-cotton fame. The application for a charter for the Florida Midland and Gulf is now being published, and as soon as the law is complied with in this respect the incorporators will ask the courts for a charter to commence business. The incorporators of the Florida Midland and Gulf, and General Rogers, John R. Young, Mr. Hull, John L. H. Hammond, J. B. Withers, P. L. Peacock and M. V. McIntyre, of Savannah; W. B. Thomas, of Trenelle; W. S. West and T. G. Crawford, of Valdosta; W. S. Jordan, R. H. Marks and John W. West, of Madison county, Fla., and Albert Jennings, of Jasper, Fla. As soon as the charter is granted the work of grading the road will begin, and then there will be reason to believe that the building of the entire line will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. The incorporators are only waiting for the charter to be granted to begin work. The necessary money with which to build the line has already been secured. The construction of the road will put into Valdosta the important trunk lines, viz., the Savannah, Florida and Western, the Georgia Southern and Florida, and the Florida Midland and Gulf. The new road will be built by the Georgia and Florida Construction company, which organization has secured the Charters for this projected line."

OTHER NEW ROADS.

I find here a strong belief that the Columbus and Atlanta road, so doing in Albany on the route, and that for a while out on the line will eventually go either to Macon or Fernandina; and, while upon the subject of projected lines through this section, I may also mention the fact that it is strongly hinted that the day is not far distant when the W. & W., Augusta, and Trenelle will be built to Valdosta. The line, if built upon the route suggested, will run through some territory of fine timbered land in south Georgia.

A SUGGESTION FOR THE A. & F.

While riding on the Georgia Southern and Florida today, a prominent railroad official remarked, "I tell you, the Atlanta and Florida should do it. It should extend its line from Fort Valley to Cedar City. The lumber business of that section is immense, and I have not a doubt but that if the Atlanta and Florida was running to Cordele she could get daily from twenty-five to thirty carloads of lumber and freight, now goes to Macon by the Georgia Southern and Florida and then on to Atlanta by the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia. Atlanta should look into the facts I have given you as early as possible, and I am sure if she does so she will find what I say is true."

MACON, Ga., January 15.—[Special.]—The publication in THE CONSTITUTION on last Sunday of the letter on "Prosperous Macon," has awakened interest in the future wealth and growth of the city and opened the eyes of many to the remarkable material development and great general advantages at Macon. On yesterday, several prominent citizens were gathered together and figures contained therein, and the party resolved to proceed at once to organize the Macon Land and Manufacturing company. Mr. George W. Chapman, the popular real estate and insurance agent has taken the initiative, and today commenced to solicit subscriptions to the capital stock. He is meeting with very great encouragement.

It is proposed to make the capital stock $100,000. There will be 1,000 shares at $100 per share. The object, briefly, is to purchase land and lots directly, or to lease them, which will be rented or sold direct, on the installment plan, to any one wishing to rent or buy. A person can rent on these houses at a nominal amount.

The corporation representative is assured that the publication of the above mentioned letter has renewed interest in the Progress Loan, Improvement and Manufacturing companies, and that the proposed project to turn over land and give sites to manufacturing enterprises that desire a location, and if these enterprises wish an increase of capital, to a small salary officer of the city of Atlanta shall work an additional salary for his office.

John 3. Reapels conflicting laws.

The paper was referred to the ordinance committee, composed of Mr. Hulsey, chairman; Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. Hendrix.

But the committee declines to make any report on the ordinance, and that is what does not please Mr. Hendrix too much.

"You see," said he, discussing the ordinance yesterday, "that law is one of vital importance to the city—one that should be adopted at once and strictly enforced."

"What is reason for the ordinance?" was asked.

"Well, I don't think that an officer who draws a salary from the city should be allowed to become an attorney for any corporation which gets its privileges from the city. He should either resign his office for which he draws a salary, or let the corporation which gets its authority from Atlanta secure one else to represent it."

"Well, Atlanta officers drawing a salary represent any corporation having authority from the city?"

"Who are they?"

"Well, the mayor does. He draws a salary for being mayor and is the attorney for Union Street Railway company."

"Yes, I know what you are going to say. Mayor Glenn is an honest man and can be trusted. Do you remember what Mayor Glenn said when he was trying to create the office of city comptroller?"

"Can't say that I do."

"Well, he wanted the comptroller and said that the comptroller would be fully and fairly used. The corporation, the company will be confined to the city of Macon and county of Bibb."

THE SUPREME COURT.

DECISIONS RENDERED FRIDAY,
JANUARY 17, 1890.

Hons. L. E. Bleckley, Chief Justice, and W. H. Blandford and T. J. Simmons, Associate Justices—Reported by Peeples and Stevens, Supreme Court Reporters.

Mooley vs. Walker et al. Motion to set aside judgment from Henry. Contracts Practice. Landlord and tenant. Before Judge Boynton.

Bleckley et al. were the same written contract contains two promises on the part of the makers, one to pay the promisee or bearer a sum of money at a fixed time, the other, in case of failure punctually to pay the same at maturity, to recognize themselves as tenants of the promisee, they constituting him their landlord. The former is a simple contract for rent, the former a conditional promise. In a suit upon the former alone, no issue defense on oath or affirmation being filed, a judgment rendered by the court without the verdict of a jury is legal and valid.

In the contract also embraces a mortgage upon certain land to secure the payment of the money, is no obstacle to a suit upon it as a promissory note, the mortgage element of the instrument not being involved in the action.

Judgment affirmed.

W. J. Albert and G. W. Bryan, for plaintiff in error.

J. C. Reagan, contra.

Regenstet & Co. vs. Tyler & Co. Equity, from Pike. Practice. Amendment. Procedural. Waiver. Before Judge Boynton.

Blandford et al. Under seal of Oct. 24, 1888, a bill in equity for injunction and receiver, addressed to the judge of the superior court and praying for subpoena, and on which defendant's attorney acknowledged service and waived process, should not have been dismissed on demurrer for the reasons that "defendant has not shown that he has been defrauded by process," and that "the same is a proceeding in equity and not in law." The defect of address and the irregularity of prayer were amendable; and the defendant appeared and pleaded. Acts 1878 p. 64; code §§334-5, 4187; 81 Stat. 126; Delacy vs. Hurst, Purnell & Co., last term.

Decision reversed.

S. Woodward and R. T. Dorsey, for plaintiffs.

J. F. Redding, for defendants.

Heury et al. vs. Hill. Suit on Bond, from Murray. Judgments. Pleadings. Estoppel. Administrators. Principal and surety. Practice. Before Judge Milner.

Simmons, J.—When to a suit on a note two of the defendants filed no plea, and the other filed a general denial, the court ordered a plea of plene administratio not sworn to but upon which a trial was had and against which the jury found, and the judge awarded judgment against the defendants who filed no plea, and another defendant who filed a general denial and had not been sworn to. Nor could their sureties take advantage of such irregularity, especially as they made no separate motion for non-suit. 70 Ga. 578.

Judgment affirmed.

W. C. Martin and R. J. & J. McCamy, for plaintiffs in error.

Trammell Starn, contra.

Mayo and Council of Griffin vs. Johnson, Case, from Spalding. Municipal corporations. Violation. Negligence. Damages. Practice. Decreeur. New trial. Evidence. Before Judge Boynton.

Simmons, J.—Under the evidence, a verdict against a city for $1,500 for injuries sustained by its negligence in knowing and allowing a hole made by the removal of a plank from the sidewalk of one of its principal streets, to remain from five to twenty days, was demanded, and was moderate.

2. If a demuror be improperly overruled, no new trial is needed; such overruling should be excepted to.

3. The right of admission of testimony should show that the specified objection was made when the testimony was offered.

(a) The context of the declaration showing that the omission of the word "not" was merely a clerical error. Such omission would not affect the object of the declaration.

4. The evidence authorized a finding that the city authorities were negligent in the manner in which they kept up the bridge or in allowing the hole to be therein.

5. Failure to charge, as to the measure of damages, that the jury should consider plaintiff's decline to work and the amount of decrease year by year of his capacity to labor, was no hurt to the defendant where the verdict was as small as it could rightfully have been had such charge been given.

6. Points of law proper as grounds for demurrer, should be made first in this court under a ground for new trial that the verdict was contrary to law.

Judgment affirmed.

Lloyd Cleveland and Hall & Halland, for plaintiff in error.

MRS. STEWART'S WILL.
A Settlement Between All the Parties—No Further Litigation.

Mrs. Young, January 17.—The formal proceeding dismissed, the action for the revocation of the probate of the will of Mrs. Cassandra M. Stewart, widow of A. T. Stewart, was signed yesterday afternoon, Justice O'Brien, of the supreme court, also signed an order discontinuing the suit of Mrs. Sarah N. Smith against Judge Hilton and his co-executor, Mr. Cluch, for an accounting. Lawyers in the case gave out a statement yesterday afternoon, in which they announced that litigations are ended, and set forth the effect of settlement as follows:

First, Judge Hilton retains all that he received during Mrs. Stewart's lifetime, and all that he has ever claimed the right to retain, except that he has released the estate from its indebtedness of $887,557. Second, all parties interested under the will, and the terms of the will entitles them to. Third, the estate is to be divided among the heirs. Stewart's executors to the cathedral at Garden City receive their full effect by the conveyance of an additional quantity of land, also double the quantity conveyed to it by Mrs. Stewart in her lifetime, and half a million dollars.

which is equivalent to the amount left in the estate, and in addition to the property which Mrs. Stewart expended upwards of $20,000 during her lifetime. This gives the estate left by Mrs. Stewart, after the payment of legacies and of the cathedral endowment to persons entitled under her will, in the following proportion: Charles J. Clark, takes one-third; Sarah V. Smith, three-tenths; the half-tenths, Mrs. Sarah N. Smith, one-tenth each, and the children of Mrs. Charles J. Clark, one-sixteenth each. The above provisions are all set forth in detail surrounded by legal language in an agreement made on the 15th instant between all parties in interest.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

From the Boston Herald:

Tremont Temple was packed with people last night. Mrs. Scott-Siddons was the bright star of the evening's entertainment, and right royally did she demonstrate that she merited an honorable distinction by the excellent performance of her several selections. Mrs. Siddons is one of the most beautiful voices never given on the stage, and the beauty is not one whit diminished when she is away from the footlights. Her features are of that pure, cameo-like quality so seductive, and her skin has that delicate peculiarity about it that Mrs. Siddons is one of the few women of modern times who impress me as being really tall. That is because she carries herself with such grace and poise, and her movements and manner are such a key to her appearance. Her voice is delightfully modulated, with a refined English accent that falls pleasantly upon the ear.

A common remark. If you take Tutt's Pills you can eat anything you like, and feel perfectly well. They are a safe remedy for liver, stomach and bowels, causing a free flow of gastric juice, which is essential to good digestion and regular bowels.

Don't Fear Now.

Rev. R. Burts, Manata, Fla., says: "Tutt's Pills are held in high repute as a Liver Regulator. Hardly know how we could get along without them. Children over here get lost without dread. Our people take one or two doses of the Pills, and follow it with fifteen grains of quinine, divided in three doses during the day. The child never retches."

EVERYBODY GONE TO GUESSING ABOUT THE L. AND N. DEAL.

An H. and D. Party Here Last Night on a Tour of Inspection—A New Line of Sleepers from Atlanta.

People in Georgia are inclined to be skeptical about the Louisville and Nashville coming to Atlanta.

They're bearing the market," is the general comment.

Some scheme or other about the Western and Atlantic lease."

"Advertising their road."

"All talk."

In spite of the assurance that the Louisville and Nashville own the Rome and Decatur, and notwithstanding the assurance of an Louisville and Nashville official that "our road won't bid for the Western and Atlantic; we are not going to stop at a stone-wall in Chattanooga; we are going to have a line of our own straight from Nashville to Atlanta"—people are inclined to reserve their opinion and view the whole matter cautiously, not to say skeptically.

The Louisville and Nashville haven't loaded themselves with dead matter," said a level-headed railroad man yesterday. "They have some new material that might be connected with a line from Nashville to Atlanta, or just let alone, and in either case made to pay. After the Western and Atlantic is disposed of they can go in either direction—sell out or extend. They can drop the whole thing without loss. The visionary map laid out by the Louisville and Nashville man the other day is a sort of possibility—no more. In short, I don't think the Louisville and Nashville is running to Atlanta with a road of their own."

But in Alabama the whole thing is taken in dead earnest. The papers are all guessing at results and changes. Extensions and extensions.

One possible result, referred to in yesterday's CONSTITUTION, is the early extension of the Tennessee and Coosa railroad—eleven miles, Atlanta to Gadsden—to Guntersville or Onetta. The Amistons and Atlantic to extension to Birmingham. The Rome and Decatur, instead of going on to Decatur, would buy up the Artalia, Warwick and Jasper road, connecting at Jasper with the Kansas City road.

Stephen Noble says the Amistons and Atlantic is not extended to Blocton.

Local papers show how the deal has put new life into their Blue Mountain mineral road; sent Woodstock Iron company stock from fifty-four to sixty-one in four days, and sent Gadsden city up beyond five and a half, with South Amistons firm at seventeen and plus.

Whether the Louisville and Nashville deal is par-value fact or not it has pretty thoroughly stirred up the people in Alabama.

Covington to Lawrenceville.

Mr. J. W. Anderson, of the Covington Star, was here yesterday. "I think," he said, "that our people are thoroughly in earnest about the road to Covington. The new town will be built up, you know, in the terminus of a narrow gauge spur of the Richmond and Danville. The Georgia, Carolina and Northern will go through Lawrenceville, and the road to that place will be in connection with the one to the Richmond and Danville and the Georgia, Carolina and Northern. I am trying to learn now whether the Richmond and Danville will be built up. I believe they will, for it would pay both. The Lawrenceville branch would be changed at once to a broad gauge if the line we want to build goes over the Richmond and Danville twenty-eight miles, the grading wouldn't average over $500 a mile, and I believe the whole thing could be done for $150,000."

Knoxville and Northeastern.

Works have commenced on the construction of East Tennessee and Western and will be completed in four days.

From Knoxville the road is to go up the Holston river for several miles, then cross the river and get into the section of country known as "the Forks." The line will be some twenty-two miles long in Knox county. It passes out of Knox into Jefferson, and over the mountains, is understood, far or through the town of Dandridge. It will pass through a portion of Sevier county, then on to Cocke county, the southern end of the route having been made public. There is, however, belief that the road will not terminate in Cocke county or at any point on the North Carolina branch of the East Tennessee. It is expected that the road will build a much longer line than is now stated, and that important connections will be made.

A New Station.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons, who is making a limited tour of the United States, will appear in Atlanta next Tuesday night, the 21st instant. This will be one of the most delightful entertainments of the year. The fact that it is under the auspices of General Agent Sloan appalled J. C. Robinson, president of the Atlanta Opera Association.

Atlanta Gets There.

Tomorrow the line of sleeping cars which is now running from Chattanooga to Shreveport, by way of Vicksvill, will be withdrawn from that route.

Instead, they will run in future from Atlanta to Shreveport, by way of Birmingham and the Georgia Pacific.

There's an additional step in the improvement of the service between Atlanta and the west over the Georgia Pacific. In a few days now Atlanta will be connected with the Fort Smith and Pacific, connecting with the new train to the port on the Richmond and Danville, and the sleepers will probably be used with this train.

The Georgia Pacific keeps creeping westward.

It has completed a survey from Itta Bena, on the Tallahatchie river, west to Jonestown, Miss., on the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas. From Jonestown it is just fourteen miles across the Mississippi to Helena, Ark., and the people there are taking a great deal of interest in the extension. The Georgia Pacific and Pacific will be connected.

Another Railroad Scheme.

ATHENS, Ga., January 17.—[Special.]—Athens has another railroad on hand. Some time since, a charter was granted to build a road from Dawsonville to Gainesville, but the road has never been built. The news comes to Athens today, in a communication from a citizen of Dahlonega, that the people of that town are anxious to have a railroad built with Athens and Gainesville to do their part to secure it. The proposition has already been made and, it is said, favorably considered by capitalists of North Georgia, to tap the Marietta and north Georgia at Tate, and run a line from there to Lake. This would enable the Georgia men to have a direct line to the Pacific, connecting with the new train to the port on the Richmond and Danville, and the sleepers will be used with this train.

Richmond and Danville Inspection.

A special train, bringing a party of Richmond and Danville officials on a tour of inspection, came last night at 9:40, in place of the regular train, which was five hours late.

The party includes Vice-President Coleman of the Atlanta General Superintendent, W. H. Green, of Washington, Traffic Manager Sol Haas, and others. Superintendent Berkley had gone up the road to meet them, and came in with them.

They leave for Birmingham today. Superintendent I. Y. Sage and Second Vice-President J. W. Johnson are expected over to leave with the party today.

A GREAT ENTERTAINMENT.

Steve Bros' Popular-Price Circus and Wild West at Wheat and Jackson.

Notwithstanding the frigid weather of last night, there were fully two thousand people present at the performance of Stowe Brothers' circus and wild west, located at Wheat and Jackson streets. The matinee performance was almost well attended.

The exhibit is one that is of undoubted merit, and the large audiences at both performances were very enthusiastic. The circus features are all interesting, and throughout the day, the best of the bill which catches the admiration of the crowds, is the Wild West. Chief Running Deer, the famous warrior and present chief of the Comanche Indians, the Spanish Bull, Frank Buckeye George, Oklahoma Bill, and several other Indians and long-haired westerners provided the scenes and gave an exhibition of frontier life, intense energy and the physical sensational in every detail of its interesting program.

It is the first wild west ever exhibited under a canvas in the south, and is fully the equal in merit at least, if not in size, of any portrayal of the life that has ever been given here. The riding of the Indian horse, the most remarkable, and is the most daring exhibition of horsemanship, probably, that has ever been presented to the public.

It is certain, that no better show has ever visited Atlanta at such cheap prices of admission, while many more pretentious and highly priced shows are much less interesting.

Stowe Brothers will exhibit again today this afternoon at 2 o'clock and tonight at 8 o'clock, the last two performances.

FAR FROM HOME.

Death of a Long Island Gardener Yesterday.

Bernard Schleissner died at the Hotel Weinmeister yesterday about noon.

His death was sudden and under rather peculiar circumstances. He died in the hotel on January 9th, paid for a month's board in advance, deposited $30 in cash and kept eight or ten dollars in his pocket for his personal needs. Mr. Weinmeister saw that he was in the last stages of consumption when he arrived, and took pains to have him come to see Dr. Nolan, who was summoned to attend him. Mr. Schleissner was unable to speak to relieve his sufferings, but to no avail. He was worse from day to day, and intended going further south, but for the recent cold snap.

During his illness he told freely, but never said a word as to whence he had relatives or friends living in the place from which he came. After his death, which was peaceful and apparently painless, no papers were found on him to give any information as to his identity except a business card bearing the name "Bernard Schleissner, beer saloon, gardener for the Lutheran Church, Glendale, L.I." He was about forty years of age.

The remains were turned over to Undertaker Frank X. Hill, and Mr. Weinmeister telephoned him to inform him of the death and to ask him to come to the funeral.

Mr. James A. Gray asked the court to turn the whole family, Mrs. Buckley and Buzbee loose.

"I think," continued the judge, "that I would concern myself in the action of the solicitor in releasing all the women on their own recognition, and I will take the liberty of recommending to him that course, unless he can show sufficient cause why they should be held. They have the right to demand to be brought before me on the habeas corpus writ, and I say, I believe I should concur in allowing the women to go on their own recognition, if the solicitor should deem that course proper."

"I shall certainly not adopt any such course unless your honor orders me to do so," exclaimed Solicitor Hill quickly.

"I don't order it; I only suggested," replied Judge Clark.

"It was our understanding that the solicitor intended to release all the prisoners," interrupted Mr. Gray. "We had heard that such was his intention."

"You never heard any such statement from me," said Mr. Hill.

Then addressing the court, he continued,

"Your honor, I never had any intention of releasing any of those prisoners, and wouldn't have let them out for any consideration. It would thwart the ends of justice."

"But you must have evidence—"

"I have the strongest evidence in the world, your honor, and have agencies on foot working as hard as I can. I can convict every one of them before any impartial jury in the country, and I intend to do it. Why the truth—not half of the truth—has been told here. I expect to be able to show that the killing of Jim Woodward was the result of one of the most diabolical and malicious plots we have ever had anything to do with. Why the bill of indictment is still against them. The services were very impressive, and many believed that the plot was to bring the honest and Christian-like life of the victim to nothing."

The bearers were T. J. Buchanan, John Justis, Ed McNeil, John Beavers, M. J. Priscok and John George. A large escort from the Confederate Veterans association attended the service and accompanied the remains to the court.

PROFESSOR WALDEN IN ATLANTA.

Laid to Rest with the Honors of a Confederate Veteran.

The funeral services of Mr. Jerry E. Johnson occurred at the Fourth Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Touching addresses were delivered by Rev. T. P. Cleveland, chaplain of the veterans and Rev. Virgil Norcross.

MISS FANNIE MORRIS.

Mrs. Anna Bryan, who died at her home, No. 235 Edgewood avenue, was a lady who had suffered a great deal of trouble in her life, and was buried in a simple casket.

Her remains were shipped to the entire community. Her remains will be shipped to Chamblee, Ga., on the Richmond and Danville railroad, at 7:30 this morning by Undertaker Patterson.

A Young Lady's Death.

Miss Fannie Morris, daughter of Mr. Lewis Morris, died at her father's residence, No. 71 Butler street, yesterday morning. Miss Morris was about twenty years of age, and a young lady who was greatly beloved by all who knew her. The funeral will occur at 10 o'clock today.

MR. JERRY JOHNSON'S FUNERAL.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, January 17.—The stock market again showed a diminished volume of business today, sales in both departments of the exchange being materially smaller than those for any day recently, while fluctuations, except in a few special stocks, were entirely insignificant.

Lackawanna, and Philadelphia, were the most active stocks, and, though trading was slow, they were traded in over a range of 3½ and 4½ per cent respectively, which is a sufficient commentary upon the character of the day's market.

In general, there was a firm undertone displayed, and for the first time in weeks the bears were inactive in the market, or were covering shorts in a small way. This was more conspicuous in coopers than anywhere else in the list, but there was also some buying for long account in those stocks.

The number of trading was all in low-priced specialties, though those in low-priced Vanderbiltts were the most important. Canada Southern early attracted attention by its sharp and sudden rise on a limited business and later in the day Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis common performed the same feat, and although purchases could be traced to no source, the effect upon the rest of the list was stimulating, though without much practical value. The post office was the most favorite in early trading because of the great fire in that city, but in New England and Pacific there was considerable stock wanted at going figures, and the selling ceased. In the unlisted department there was considerable pressure upon sugar in early dealings and a decline of one per cent was effected, but the general improvement brought that up too, and it closed with a fraction less than yesterday. Cotton however, was especially weak for no apparent reason and after a drop of 1½ per cent recovered only ¾¢. Wisconsin Central helped by the report of its earnings and the strengthening of its alliance with the Northern Pacific, made another sharp turn in an upward direction and scored a material improvement for the day. The market closed dull and steady, but generally at small fractions above the opening figures. The final changes are almost invariably in the direction of the market leaders, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and St. Louis with 1½¢, and Wisconsin Central with 1¾¢, show more than small fractional advances. Cotton oil is down 1 percent. Railroad bonds displayed more activity and more features today, with a decided firm tone throughout. Sales reached $1,430,000. Sales of listed stocks 116,000 shares; unlisted 31,000.

Exchange dull but firm at 483±487.

A HOT CHASE.

CLIFF FARRIS, THE CHUM OF THE BONE BOYS, MAKES A BREAK.

Another Chapter in the Career of One of the Sticked Boy Criminals That the Police Records of Atlanta Has Ever Produced.

Cliff Farris, the sticked boy criminal in Atlanta, served his apprenticeship in crime with the Bone Boys, whose father has just received his life-sentence for murder.

Yesterday Farris was with the county chain-gang, where he was sent for one year, after being convicted of breaking into Falvey's store. Suddenly, he got his chance and skipped out with the shackles dangling to his feet.

From near the East Tennessee shops, where he was at work, he ran with all speed through West End, and around the corner, where he entered a house and procured a pair of plain citizens' pantaloons, which he slipped over his stripes. He then got an old crocus sack and put it on over his striped jacket, and was once more a common ragamuffin, with no signs of the convict on him.

He is a NICE LAD.

and despite the weight of the shackles, he managed to reach the outskirts of the city. The dogs had been put upon his trail, but he had eluded them with the slyness of a swamp fox, and by following the unfrequented alleys and byways, cutting across commons he escaped notice.

Accustomed to haunt every den and dive in the city, it looked like a pretty forlorn task to chase the fleeing boy, who, although but fourteen years old, possesses enough knowledge of the wickedness of the world to make a man a lifetime. The blue hills of the eastern mountains before his eager eyes, and despite the fact that he had been running and dodging for several hours, he quickened his speed as he saw the prospect of freedom grow brighter.

Mounted Officers Jennings and George Hamilton were both on horseback, knowing him well, and putting their horses to a gallop they came in sight of the fugitive just before he reached the city limits. In spite of his disguise they recognized him, and in a few moments caught up with him. Panting with exhaustion the boy stopped, and SURRENDERED WITH A SMILE that would have done credit to a veteran of a dozen terms in the penitentiary. He was taken back to the changeling officials and turned over to them, none the worse for his trouble.

Farris escaped from Fulton county jail by crawling through one of the tin steam-heater pipes last summer when he was first incarcerated for the Falvey's burglary. Mounted Officer Hamilton caught him on Decatur street, after that escape, and he cried with vexation. He had been running up to Atlanta, and returned to Atlanta, sailing the ride both ways, previous to his capture. The boy has a bad record and has several times expressed his intention to learn to be an expert safe-blower by the time he was a man. His term will probably be lengthened for his attempt to escape.

No Cure No Pay.

It is a pretty severe test of any doctor's skill when the patient of his fee is made completely incapable of payment, after having for many years observed the thousands of marvelous cures effected in liver, blood and lung diseases, by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, its manufacturers too warranted in selling it, as they are now doing, in boxes, and in bottles, and under a certificate of positive guarantee that it will either benefit or cure in every case of disease for which they recommend it, if taken in time and given a fair trial, a money paid for it will be promptly refunded. Terpid liver, or kidney, improves skin eruptions, gouty, scrofulous sores and swelling of the consumption (which is scrofula of the lungs), all yield to this wonderful medicine. It is both tonic or strength-restoring, and alterative or blood-cleansing.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh positively cured by Dr. Sage's Remedy. 50 cents, by druggists.

Nature's Soft Nurse.

As Shakespeare calls sleep, flies the nervous the sleepless, but revisits their pillow when engaged to the care of common bitters. Stomach bitters. Insomnia is a very common trouble, and the Bitters is a proven means of relieving it. Appeteite is also promoted by the Bitters. This medicine also eradicates kidney and liver trouble, indigestion and rheumatism.

Coughs and Hoarseness.—The irritation which induces coughing immediately relieved by use of Brown's Bronchial Troches. Sold only in boxes.

HIS PASSION ROSE AND JUDGE CLARK DOUBLED HIS SENTENCE.

A Negro Is Sentenced to Ten Years in the Penitentiary for Threatening to Kill a Ballif and for Using Abusive Language.

Twenty years in the penitentiary because he could not control his temper.

Charlie Green, a negro who was convicted of larceny before Judge Richard H. Clark last week and sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, had his term increased to twenty years yesterday.

Green is a bad negro, and it was on account of his meanness that Judge Clark doubled his term.

The crime of which Green was found guilty was stealing a mule, the property of Ballif J. M. Donehoo. He tried to sell the stolen mule, and his conviction was an easy matter.

Twenty years is the limit of the law in such cases, but at the time Judge Clark thought half that term was sufficient punishment for such a crime as Green had committed, nothing but simple larceny being proven.

It turned out that Green was a dangerous man to fool with. When the jury found him guilty, and he realized that he might say would lighten the penalty for the crime.

After repeatedly expressing the desire to confess, he was finally allowed to tell the story to Deputy Sheriff Curtright and Mr. Pompey Hill, son of Sheriff Miller, from whom he was taken down in writing.

The trial came before Judge Bigby, who is president of the Atlanta bar. Green's story was likely to be spent behind prison walls in chains and stripes, he became terribly enraged at Ballif Donehoo, the judge, solicitor, and everybody else connected with the case. For two or three weeks Ramsey expressed a desire to make of the crime, but Deputy Sheriff Curtright rather dissuaded him, explaining that nothing that he might say would lighten the penalty for the crime.
